Standardization Of Arms Planned

... By The United States, British And Canadian Governments

Efficient Co-operation Sought In Event Of A New International Conflict

... Technical Experts Have Been At Work Since '47

LONDON—(AP)—Britain, the United States and Canada announced today a plan for standardizing their arms and military training.

The program is aimed at correcting and eliminating technical differences which interfered with easy co-operation of the three powers in two world wars.

Its purpose is to permit swift integration of their men and arms into a smoothly-functioning military machine in event of another international conflict.

(After the London announcement, a similar one was made in Washington. It added no details to what had been given out by the British government.)

Considerable Progress

The British ministry of defense said technical experts of the three countries have been working on standardization since 1947. They have made considerable progress in preliminary studies, it is known, and have made recommendations for standardization of certain key weapons.

Leftist forces in Britain opposed this co-operation, and in parliamentary debates called the move toward arms standardization an aggressive weapon aimed at Soviet Russia.

In connection with the standardization studies there have been frequent exchanges of military personnel between the three nations on operational levels.

Pilots "Exchanged"

American pilots have been assigned to fly and study Britain's jet bombers. At the same time British and Canadian officers have worked in developing and flying many American planes. Similar exchanges have been entered into by the working level agencies of the armed forces of the three nations.

"These arrangements will insure that in time of necessity there will be no material or technical obstacles to full co-operation among the armed forces concerned and the greatest possible economy in the use of combined resources and effort will be obtained," the ministry of defense said.

It added that "no treaty, executive agreement or contractual obligation has been entered into by the participating nations."

Common Standards

The three nations have been examining the standardization problem since 1947. Missions have now been exchanged between the three nations on a technical level. Here the U. S. mission was generally called "technical" and the British mission "operational."

The defense ministry said, "Our arrangements were decentralized (down) to the working level agencies of the armed forces of the three nations for study in various fields of military equipment and operational procedures."

"The studies are aimed at the gradual development of common designs and standards in arms, equipment and training methods."

This is particularly true in aviation where British-designed jet-fighters have become the standard for fighter squadrons of France, Belgium and Holland. The planes and engines, while of British design, are being built in the continent.

National Report

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The agriculture department, in its final report of the year, today estimated this year's corn crop at 3,377,790,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 1,146,463,000 bushels.

The corn figure is 20,172,000 bushels more than the 3,357,618,000 forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's revised estimate of 3,681,793,000 bushels and with the 10-year (1938-47) average of 2,787,628,000.

The wheat estimate is 20,237,000 bushels more from the 1,126,226,000 forecast a month ago. It compares with last year's revised estimate of 1,313,534,000 and with the 10-year average of 991,950,000.

Production of these major grain crops was large enough to create a surplus requiring the department to impose limitations on next year's crops. Acreage planting allotments already have been set up for wheat and soon will be announced for corn.

Weather Delays New Air Service

OMAHA—(AP)—Plans of Mid-West Airlines to start service to North Platte, Neb., Tuesday were halted by bad weather. M. W. Taylor, superintendent of operations, said.

Taylor said it was unlikely that weather would improve to permit the start of service Tuesday. The airline, he explained, planned to complete its proving flight over the route Monday, but weather forestalled the attempt.

On the North Platte leg, Taylor said Mid-West planned to stop at Lincoln, Beatrice, Fairbury, Hastings, Grand Island, Kearney, Lexington and McCook. When the North Platte service is started, there will be six flights daily from OMAHA.

One Dead, Six Hurt In Crash

Near Gothenburg; Visibility Low At Time Of Accident

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. — (AP)—Donis Wells, 30, of Cozad was killed instantly and six others were injured in a head-on collision five miles west of Gothenburg at 9 a. m. Monday.

A car driven by Mont J. Gree, 66, of Manhattan, Kas., was attempting to pass a truck driven by M. L. Glaser of North Platte and collided head-on with a car driven by Gerald Potter, 32, of Cozad, investigating officers said.

Wells was riding in the front seat beside Potter and his head crashed through the windshield.

Both Green and Potter are in Gothenburg hospitals suffering injuries of undetermined extent. Also in Gothenburg hospitals are Maude Green, 52, Manhattan, bruises and shock; Franklin Boone, 51, Manhattan, head cuts and bruises; Mrs. Gerald Potter Cozad, broken leg and head bruises; and Mrs. Donis Wells, Cozad, undetermined injuries.

Visibility in the area was reduced by heavy fog and Glaser said visibility at the time and place of the accident was about 75 to 100 feet. The lights of the Potter car were on before and after the crash, Glaser said.

Both cars are estimated to be nearly total losses.

Wells was the 245th person to die as a result of a motor vehicle accident in Nebraska this year.

Young To Be Returned In Murder Case

Man Arrested Here Confesses Georgia 'Revenge Killing'

Officers from Columbus, Ga., are expected to arrive in Lincoln Monday night to take custody of James Henry Young, 25-year-old army corporal who has admitted the revenge killing of a Georgia man on Dec. 1.

Authorities here were told Detective Chief H. T. Whitley and Sheriff E. F. Howell left Columbus early Sunday for Lincoln. Young, his wife, and his brother, Kyle, have all signed waivers of extradition.

The corporal from Ararat, Va., signed a nine page confession of the slaying early Sunday and following his arrest in Havelock Saturday night by city police and state patrolmen.

Questioned 2 Hours

The confession was signed in the presence of Lt. Paul Beave of the Lincoln police department and Lt. Harold Smith of the state safety patrol after two hours of questioning by the officers.

The slain man was Joseph Crump Durden, 69-year-old Columbus piano tuner, Georgia authorities said.

Young and his wife, Margaret, 19, were arrested Saturday night at the home of a brother-in-law at 6612 Ballard. Young's brother, Kyle, 23, was arrested at the home of another brother, James M. Young, 6642 Morrill, soon after. Both his wife and Kyle accompanied Young here from Georgia about a week ago.

Young, together with his wife and brother, Kyle, who were not implicated in the confession, are being held here on open charges. They have all signed waivers of extradition police report.

In his statement, James Henry said neither his wife nor family knew anything of the killing. He also said he did not know the name of his victim, except he thought it was "Joe Donner" or "Joe Dunner."

James Henry said in his confession he had met the man in (Continued on Page Two)

Christmas Tree Selling $50 Million Business

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The agriculture department reports that the Christmas tree business will have a nice glow about it this year — a $50 million dollar glow!

The department said that the 28 million trees would have a woodlot value of about six million dollars.

By the time these trees are sold, however, the department estimates they will cost the consumers close to $50 million dollars — a difference of 833 per cent.

All-Time High Volume Of Mail Expected Here

500 Clerks, Carriers Handle Record Load

More than 500 postal clerks and carriers Monday were laboring to handle what was expected to be an all-time high daily mail volume at the Lincoln post office.

Peak for outgoing Christmas packages and greetings was expected Monday, and the added amount of incoming mail was expected to set a new record for the local post office.

Ralph Whyman, assistant superintendent of mails, said at noon that Lincolinites probably would mail 400,000 pieces of first class mail before night. That would be above last year's record day, on which 393,000 pieces were mailed.

55 Ton Total.

He said he expected 65,000 pounds of outgoing packages and 45,000 pounds of incoming packages during the day. That would total 55 tons of packages.

Meanwhile figures for the first 18 days of December indicated an increase of 13.3 per cent in postal receipts over last year's record high, but smaller increases in volume of mail.

Postal receipts for the first 18 days were $135,508.15 this year. The month of December is expected to show the biggest postal receipts in the history of the local office.

The "volume of mail" figures for the first 18 days:

Outgoing Mail.

First class, 71,129 pounds, 13.5 per cent above last year.

Fourth class, 63,533 pounds, 6.5 per cent above last year.

Other classes, 150,266, 9.7 per cent over last year.

Incoming Mail.

First class, 33,518 pounds, 3.6 per cent above last year.

Fourth class, 61,168, 1.3 per cent above last year.

Other classes, 307,542, 3.2 per cent above last year.

Hearing On Public Units Is Assured

Housing Question Will Get Airing

Forces were shaping up Monday for the coming battle on public housing in Lincoln.

Appearing at Monday's city council meeting were members of the Lincoln Board of Realtors to support their request to have a hearing on the issue.

James West, head of division 62 of Communication Workers of America, also appeared, asking that the council make sure it is a night meeting so the working people "who are most vitally interested in public housing" and have the opportunity to present their views.

Mayor Miles assured both men they will get their requests.

No Quick Action.

The hearing, however, probably will not be for at least another month. Tom Pansing reminded the realtors that the Housing Authority has a contract—which needs city council approval—which it will present to the council in about a month.

Pansing suggested that the hearing be held after that contract is presented. Then, council action after the hearing may decide whether there will be public housing in the city or not. Should the council fail to endorse the contract, public housing would be virtually killed.

O. P. Bancroft, president of the realtors, said that his organization, which has 103 members, is unanimously opposed to the program. He said private builders can furnish all the housing that is needed in the city and the government should not be permitted to "compete with" private industry in the housing field.

Council OK's Navy Lease For Airport

The Lincoln city council Monday afternoon approved unanimously the lease with the navy for airport facilities and ordered the document forwarded to Washington.

The lease was prepared in Washington by city officials and navy authorities. The Lincoln delegation included Mayor Clarence Miles, City Attorney John Jacobson and Harold Hinds, chamber of commerce aviation committee.

Before the lease was approved, the terms of the lease were reviewed by Jacobson. Hinds gave a report of the group's activities in Washington.

Pole Consul Is Recalled

From Sweden For His Criticism Of Arrest Of Swedes In Poland

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Poland has recalled her minister to Sweden, Czeslaw Bobrowski, the Swedish foreign office announced today.

Bobrowski is reported to have stirred the anger of the Warsaw government for his criticism of Polish police methods in dealing with Swedes arrested in Poland. Since the end of the war eight Poles have left the legation here in protest against the communist regime in Warsaw.

Fog Grips Big Area Of U. S.

Many Planes Grounded

(By the Associated Press) Fog from the Gulf of Mexico crept up the Mississippi valley as far north as Chicago today while in the northwest cold wave warnings were issued.

The fog, in varying degrees of thickness, grounded planes over a wide area of Texas, including Dallas, San Antonio, Austin and Houston.

The U. S. weather bureau at Chicago said the fog covered Oklahoma, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Alabama and Georgia.

The enemy of fog, cold air, began moving out of Canada and across Montana. Twelve below at Cut Bank, Mont., and 8 below at Lewistown, Mont., were the coldest spots as the chill moved eastward. Cold wave warnings were issued for Montana and Nebraska. Rain continues falling in southern California where Los Angeles had the heaviest downpour of the season yesterday. The storm, which brought 1.95 inches of rain to the city, flooded many streets. It raised the moisture total for the season there to 4.80 inches, compared with 1.30 inches at this time last year and a normal precipitation of 3.35 inches.

Fog Is Affecting Some Flights Here

In Lincoln, the United Air Lines reported that the fog had caused flight No. 146 from Denver to Omaha to by-pass Lincoln. Flight No. 618 from Denver to Chicago made an unscheduled overnight stop here Monday night because of the fog in Omaha. It took off Tuesday morning.

Max Denney Offers Make Rally Talks

... 'Big Job Ahead'

FAIRBURY, Neb. — (AP) — Max A. Denney, Fairbury attorney and member of the republican state central committee, today offered his services as a speaker for party rallies in any county in the state.

Denny made his offer to state Chairman David Martin of Kearney, who won by only two votes from Denny in the recent election of a chairman in Lincoln.

"We in Nebraska have a big job ahead of us if we are going to continue to meet with the success that we have in the past," Denny wrote.

"GOP Overconfidence." "We all know that at the last election many very fine republicans did not get out and work and express themselves regarding the political issues as they should have, because of the fact that we were led to believe through the polls that were conducted and through our own apathy that we had the election in the bag," Denny wrote.

"We know now that we missed a very good chance to assume control nationally and we also know that we lost ground within the state of Nebraska."

"My own personal feeling is that we have aroused all of the people of Nebraska to the exciting prospect that our present administration is engaged in. We have led them to thinking about what this will lead to in the future and I feel confident that we can get enough of the people in Nebraska to be successful."

State Chairman Martin recently announced that meeting would be held in every county early in 1950 to stir up interest for the coming campaign.

Charles Wageman Dies In Seattle

Charles E. Wageman, 38, former Lincoln resident, died Friday in Seattle, Wash.

Mr. Wageman went to Seattle four years ago and entered the lumbering business. He was a member of the Catholic church.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Wageman spent three and one-half years in service, two years of which were in the Pacific theater.

He was a staff sergeant in Company G of the Seventh-seventh infantry division. He was wounded while in action on Okinawa.

Mr. Wageman had attended the Lincoln schools.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wageman, Lincoln; five brothers, Donald and Alvin, both of Martel, Neb., Clarence and Louis, both of Lincoln, and Ervin, Tahliana, Okla.; five sisters, Mrs. Clara Scheuler, Columbus, Neb., Mrs. Gertrude Scheuler, Kansas City, Kas., Mrs. Rose Riess, Milford, and Mrs. Dorothy Sims and Mrs. Mae Wageman.

City Government Costs Taxpayers 60 Cents Weekly

The average Lincoln home owner pays about 8½ cents a week for fire protection.

Police protection costs him about eight cents a week. To maintain all city governmental activities the average owner kicks in about 60 cents a week to the city coffers.

Those figures are the latest computation of the 1949 city tax dollar made by City Clerk Theo Berg. By "average" owner Berg means the man whose home is assessed at $3,000. (Although a home is assessed at $3,000, its real value probably is about $6,000.)

Berg got his final figures by taking the city's mill levy (10.42), and taxing the "average" home accordingly. The result is $31.26 a year, or 60 cents a week.

Here is how that 60 cents a week is distributed:

Fire	8 1/2
Police	8
Streets and paving repair	2
General administration	5
Fire and police pensions	2
Contingencies	1
Health and milk inspection	2 1/2
City property	1
Sewers	1
Parks	3 1/2
Street lights	1 1/2
Recreation	1 1/2
Bonds and interest	4 1/2
Auditorium and street opening	2 1/2
Special fire equipment	5 1/2
Library	1
Miscellaneous	1
Total	$1.00

City taxes take a 24-cent bite out of your tax dollar paid for city, county, and state governmental activities. The city clerk's breakdown of that dollar:

State	$.15
County	.09
Sanitary district	.04
School	.48
City	.24
Total	$1.00

MURDER CASE

August, and the pair had unnatural sexual relations. As a result, Young told police, he contracted a disease.

Struck With Hammer.

On Nov. 21, he said, he met the man again, and at that time the other man wanted to have unnatural sex relations. Young said he made arrangements to meet him Dec. 1.

Asked why he wanted to meet the man again, Young said in his confession, "I just wanted to beat him up a little bit, so I did."

After a request for "about the same thing he did before" in a car outside Columbus, Young said he refused and the two returned to Columbus, where "I hit him the first time."

"He had a hammer, about a pound and a half hammer, laying on the floor," Young said. "I picked that up and hit him at least two or three times inside the car."

Then followed other blows on the head when the victim tried to run, Young said. He then placed the body in the trunk of the car and returned home.

Young said he and his wife, who had planned to move that night, placed their belongings in the car and moved. The next day he went to an army camp Sand Hill, Ga., where he worked as an assistant motor sergeant. On Dec. 3 began the flight which took him to his Ararat, Va., home, to Mount Airy, N. C., and to Lincoln by bus.

Second Christmas Theme Of Final Yule Singfest

More than 350 attended the final Christmas singfest Sunday evening at St. Paul church.

"The Second Christmas" was the theme of the meditation given by Chancellor Carl C. Bracy of Wesleyan university. He described the first Christmas as a time of celebration and gift giving and the second Christmas as a period of spiritual thanksgiving.

Dr. Frank Ploutz, Lincoln district superintendent of the Nebraska Conference of the Methodist church, gave the invocation, offertory prayers and the benediction.

Four-Year Old Singer Makes Hit. Those attending the singfest were delighted by the Christmas carols of Frankie Schultz, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Schultz, 1227 Otee.

Frankie sang, "Santa Claus is Coming to Town" and "Silent Night."

Charles Putney led the group singing. Houghton Furr, organist at St. Paul, accompanied.

Yanney Succeeds Taylor In Post

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—(AP)—Vernon O. Taylor of St. Paul has resigned as chairman of the young democratic clubs of Nebraska and Eugene K. Yanney of Kearney has been named to succeed him.

Taylor's resignation was accepted at a meeting here Sunday of the young democratic executive committee. Yanney, who had been vice chairman, was named to the chairmanship on a temporary basis.

Taylor gave no reason for resigning the post. He also asked to be relieved of his duties as regional director for the young democratic national committee, a post he has held the past year.

Mrs. Anderson Also Resigns.

Thane Davis of Hyannis was named temporary vice chairman to succeed Yanney. Mrs. Frank Sorrell of Syracuse was named temporary national committeewoman to succeed Mrs. Peg Anderson of Lincoln, who resigned.

Taylor's resignation, as well as that of Mrs. Anderson, is effective Jan. 1. Taylor has been state chairman of the Nebraska young democrats since 1947.

The executive committee named a committee to study proposed changes and to submit recommendations at a special constitutional convention to be held sometime between May 15 and June 15, 1950.

Named to that committee were James Kelly of Broken Bow, chairman; Mrs. Sorrell; Ed Dosek of Lincoln; Neil Meisbach of Unadilla, and Robert Tondereau of York.

Plan Constitutional Convention. The executive committee said a speaker of national prominence would be secured for the junior Jefferson-Jackson day dinner which will climax the constitutional convention.

In a statement accompanying his resignation, Taylor said:

"In the past two years, I have had the utmost co-operation and assistance from the entire democratic party of Nebraska and the state. I have worked with as regional director for the national committee."

"I feel it has been a great privilege on my part to have been able to help reorganize the Nebraska young democrats since the war."

"We have had considerable success in building our organization and I know it will continue to be the outstanding political organization for the youth of our fine state."

"I sincerely want to thank the democrats of Nebraska and particularly the many, many fine young democrats over the state."

Taylor was appointed assistant census director in the Kearney area Saturday. The Hatch Act provides that a census official cannot at the same time hold a political office.

Rural Building Decrease In '50 Is Seen For State

There will be 10 to 15 per cent less farm building in 1950, in Nebraska compared with rural construction in 1949, according to extension agricultural engineer E. A. Olson of the University of Nebraska.

Olson included the forecast in his annual outlook data furnished the U. S. department of agriculture. Olson blamed lower prices of farm products and high operating costs, which lowered farm net income, for the construction decline.

Olson says he expects a continuing increase of building supplies in 1950. He says the supply of galvanized iron and certain kinds of pipe will hinge on the settlement of present labor problems.

As for cement, he says, there should be no difficulty in obtaining lower prices.

E. J. Fruhling, 48, Ex-Head Chamber At Franklin, Dies

FRANKLIN, Neb. — Funeral services for E. J. Fruhling, 48, prominent businessman who died Friday, were held Sunday afternoon.

Former president of the Franklin chamber of commerce, he was at one time superintendent and athletic coach of the Chase county high school and later served for nine years as Chase county agricultural agent.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Imperial, the Elks lodge at Fremont.

Surviving are his wife, Grace; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Wilsman and Madeline, both of Franklin; two sisters, Esther Fruhling, Lincoln, and Mrs. Ruth Kinsey, Naponee; and two brothers, Fred, Long Beach, Calif., and Arthur, Trenton.

$3,000 Damages Are Awarded For Accident Injuries

A $3,000 personal injury judgment was awarded Mrs. Florence Warren on behalf of her 10-year-old son Paul by District Judge J. H. Broady Monday.

The judgment was assessed against Everett H. Uhrich, 4105 Y, and Joseph C. Scott, 4126 Madison.

The lawsuit arose from a truck-pedestrian accident May 23 at the intersection of First and O. The plaintiffs charged a truck loaded with rock, driven by Scott, struck the youth as he walked south across O street. Scott was employed by Uhrich. Both sides waived jury trial.

Settlement Made—A lump sum settlement of $144 to Harry G. Neumayer, Grand Island, against the Stephenson School Supply company was approved in District court following approval of both parties. Neumayer claimed he suffered injuries in a car accident Nov. 18, 1948 while working for the company as a salesman.

1 Killed, 3 Badly Hurt In Car Crash

... Near DuBois, Neb.

PAWNEE CITY, Neb. — (AP) — One man was killed and three other persons injured seriously Sunday when the automobile in which they were riding went out of control a mile and a half north of DuBois, Neb.

Dead was Rex Manley, 26, of Pawnee City, a passenger in a car driven by Don Hill, 36, also of Pawnee City. Hill was injured critically.

Also in serious condition were Darlene Manley, 19, wife of the dead man, and Mrs. Don Hill, 34. Mrs. Dale Dodson, another passenger in the car, escaped with minor injuries.

Sheriff Gene Parker of Pawnee City said the five were returning home from a dance when the accident occurred. The car was damaged badly.

Manley was the 244th person to suffer fatal injuries in a motor vehicle accident in Nebraska this year.

Trinity Chapel Has Program Of Christmas Music

Trinity Chapel church, south of Lincoln, presented the annual program of Christmas music Sunday evening.

Invocation and benediction were given by Rev. E. T. Pietz, pastor, and the offertory, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," sung by Marilyn Peterson.

The senior and junior choirs under direction of Mrs. Albert Sandfort sang "In a Lowly Manger" and supplied background music for "Silent Night" sung by Janis Munn, Hasel Thelander and Janice Warboys.

Choir Selections. Selections by the senior choir included: "Bells Are Calling," "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains" and "Canticle de Noel." The junior choir sang "Gloria," from The Twelfth Mass.

Joyce Lehl sang "Jesu Bambino" and a girls' trio composed of Jeanne Peterson, Virginia Burgess and Twyla Burgess sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

Alto soloist JoAnne Peterson sang "There Were Three Shepherds" and the men's chorus presented "Good King Wenceslaus" with Albert Sandfort singing the tenor solo and Dick Reddish the treble voice parts.

Dorothy Lidolph was pianist and Mrs. B. H. Grant, the narrator.

Mrs. Thomas Will Not Run For Congress

Wife Of Convicted Payroll-Padder Changes Mind About Campaign

HACKENSACK, N. J. —(AP)—Mrs. J. Parnell Thomas withdrew today as a candidate for the congressional seat to be vacated next month by her imprisoned husband.

The withdrawal left the field open to state Labor commissioner Harry C. Harper who was selected over the week-end as the republican organization candidate for the Seventh congressional district post.

"After much deliberation I have decided that I shall not at this time be a candidate for congress," Mrs. Thomas announced.

"It would be impossible for me to campaign adequately in the brief time which elapses before the special election. Therefore, I shall not oppose the selection of Mr. Harper by the organization."

Mrs. Thomas had announced previously that she wanted to take over her husband's seat in the house of representatives. Rep. Thomas is now serving a jail term on payroll padding charges. He has submitted his resignation from congress effective Jan. 2.

C. A. Smith, Retired State Banker, Dies

Charles A. Smith, 79, 1439 Cheyenne street, retired banker and insurance executive, died Sunday after a long illness. He had been a Lincoln resident since 1931 and previously had lived in Tilden 38 years.

Mr. Smith, who had served as an officer for Madison and Tilden banks, was elected in 1927 as president of the Nebraska Bankers association.

He was born in Allentown, Penn., and moved to Nebraska in 1876, settling at Madison, Neb.

Active For Civic Affairs.

While at Tilden, he was active in civic affairs. In 1901, he was elected to the directorate of the Royal Highlanders, a fraternal insurance company, and in 1931 he was elected secretary treasurer of the company. He held this post until 1945, when he retired because of ill health.

At the time of his death he was the oldest member in number of years service of the Mystic Tie Lodge No. 166, A. F. & A. M., Tilden. He was a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Shrine.

He also represented the Grand Lodge of Czechoslovakia in the Grand Lodge of Nebraska.

Married 50 Years.

Mr. Smith was married to Leah F. Koeberlin May 29, 1892. The couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1942. A son, Charles R., and a daughter, Leona C. Miller, preceded him in death. Surviving are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. V. E. Dolph, David City; Mrs. Verna S. Resseguie, Lincoln; and Mrs. M. M. Payne, Hamburg, Ia., one son, Leonard H. Smith, Salina, Kas., and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at Roberts chapel. Rev. Theodore H. Leonard will officiate together with the Masonic lodge. Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Catholic Churches Will Not Celebrate Mass Christmas Eve

None of the Lincoln Catholic churches will have midnight masses on Christmas eve.

The first mass in St. Mary's Cathedral on Christmas morning will be at 5 a. m. Others will follow at 6, 6:30, 7, 7:30, 8, 9, 9:30, 10, 11 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. The 5 a. m. mass will be a high mass for which the senior choir will sing. The 8 a. m. mass responses will be sung by the high school choir.

At 11 is the solemn pontifical mass celebrated by Bishop Louis B. Kucera, with the senior choir singing.

Mass at Huskerville will be at 8:30 and 9 a. m.

Chapter 22.

Shortly before two o'clock, Larry Hackett sounded the iron knocker on the door of The Eighth Gable. He was received by Franklin Sayre himself.

Hackett produced his notebook. "I should like to make some memorandum on the interior of this splendid old house."

"Yes, it is old, several centuries," declared Sayre.

Hackett casually moved toward the partly open door close to the fireplace, and saw again the brick-lined closet. "I see what you mean," he said to alay suspicion, and pointed to the brick-lined closet.

Sayre nodded curtly. They went from room to room on the ground floor. At length, as they moved toward the staircase, Hackett saw a large oil painting of a man in colonial clothes. Halting, he pointed to the portrait and said: "A very fine canvas."

"It is the likeness of my great-grandfather," Sayre replied, and mounted the staircase.

They went into one bedroom after another off a heavily carpeted hall. Hackett made short work of his pretended inspection.

Groping for an idea with which to shape a conversation to his end, Hackett recalled the red-haired young woman whom, several hours ago, Jonathan Andrews had seen with Ted, motoring toward Squam Lake, Sayre's niece.

"Do you live alone, Mr. Sayre?" he asked experimentally.

"The daughter of my late brother Nathaniel lives here much of the time," replied Sayre. "You may have seen the picture of Florence, my niece, on my bedroom dresser."

"No, I didn't," Hackett was sorry now that the whereabouts of Fanshawe had so completely occupied his mind. A maid appeared at the parlor threshold. "You're wanted on the phone," she told Sayre.

"Excuse me, Mr. Lawrence," he said, and strode out of the room. Hackett moved quickly to the parlor door, and saw that the hall was deserted. Then he tiptoed down the hall to the painting. With his fingertips in the groove of an ornamental gilt projection on the side of the frame, Hackett pulled gently. To his consternation, the painting fell.

His arms spreading wide apart, he held the unwieldy painting high against the wall and with the top of its frame forced the bent nail upward. A faint whirring sound, like that of a slipping rat, assailed his ears. A moment later he heard the hum of an automobile coming up the driveway at the side of the house.

Glancing furtively up the staircase, Hackett stole toward the parlor. On crossing the threshold he espied on the table the book which, on the previous Saturday night, had fallen from his hand as Franklyn Sayre made his spectral entry into the parlor. He went directly to the table and picked up the book. Eagerly he opened the title page. It was Ruskin's Sesame and Lilies.

Disappointed, he impatiently threw the book onto the table, then turned toward the other end of the room... and gasped. In the center of the parlor stood Franklyn Sayre. His eyes were blazing with wrath.

"You, John Lawrence... Hackett, you damnable impostor, get out of this house!" he shouted.

Astonished though he was, Larry Hackett braced himself to grapple with the irate man. Sayre suddenly halted, however, and glanced in the direction of the reception hall. With a quick turn of his head the newsman's ears followed his adversary's and beheld Ted at the threshold. The dapper fellow at once made an about-face and disappeared in the reception hall.

The return of the house guest seemed to have a sobering effect on the master of the manse.

Hackett decided to bluff the affair through. "Listen, Sayre," he began in a brittle tone, "whenever a man calls me a damnable impostor he had better be prepared to back up his charge."

"Do you deny your name is Hackett?" Sayre flung at him.

"No," the other tossed back. "My name is John Lawrence Hackett. If I choose to go under my nom de quill, John Lawrence, particularly while pursuing my professional work, what right have you to object?"

Leveling an accusing finger at Hackett, Sayre bore down on him. "Then why did you tiptoe like a thief from the hall to this room, a minute ago?"

Reflecting that no secret recess chamber was likely to be found behind any picture in the house, Hackett decided to tell what had occurred.

Sayre dropped on to the divan. "If I have made a mistake, I, too, apologize," he retracted. "Be seated and I'll explain."

"It was Mr. Stockham who telephoned me, several minutes ago, knowing that I had been here last Saturday night."

Larry gave him a conciliatory smile. "He no doubt thought he was serving the interest of one of his customers when he phoned you."

On their way to the front door Sayre inquired: "May I ask you why you impulsively threw the book back onto the table?"

For once Hackett's ready wit failed him. "Ruskin is my pet literary antipathy," he improvised lamely.

Distrust passed across Sayre's bleak eyes like a shadow. "Which of Ruskin's works is the most distasteful to you?" the sharp-witted man pursued.

"Sesame and Lilies," replied Hackett.

Sayre opened the front door. "Then you too believe that lilies poorly symbolize the character of Abra?" he asked.

"Precisely."

"I should think so, too, if Abra were a character in Ruskin's Sesame and Lilies and not the favorite wife of Pryor's Solomon, Mr. John Lawrence Hackett," said Sayre ironically, and closed the door.

The newsman knew that he had been outwitted. Determined that Sayre's satisfaction should be short-lived, he put his face close to the door and said loudly enough to be heard within: "Are you sure Abra isn't a character in Hawthorne's Fanshawe?"

Of New Importance

America seems to have some trouble in getting Chiang Kai-shek out of its hair. Driven from the Chinese mainland by the victorious Communists, he is continuing the fight by using the huge island of Formosa as a base, along with Hainan, which is smaller. The generalissimo has regrouped a shrunken administrative staff, along with the remnants of his armies, and his air and sea units. The assumption is that he will attempt to defend Formosa should the Chinese communists undertake an amphibious attack against it.

That situation is troubling some of the members of congress.

Recently, Senator Ferguson of Michigan said the island of Formosa has become "the most strategic territory in Asia today." It gains its new importance because of its proximity to Japan (under American occupation) and its nearness to the Philippines. An already disturbing position in the Far East, on the basis of American interest, would be aggravated if the Chinese communists should win Formosa.

This is behind recent utterances urging that now the American state department issue a warning to the Chinese communists against any plan to seize Formosa. There is no easy choice of action for Uncle Sam in the Orient.

Growing Leisure Class

The Missouri public expenditure survey wants to know how, with a steady increase of population over sixty-five years of age, pensions are to be paid. Only recently, a regional director of the Federal Security Agency, James W. Doarm, spoke of the same trend, and its effect upon American economy. If the productive efforts of older people are to be wasted, inevitably heavier burdens will fall upon the young. The problem itself grows out of a constantly increasing leisure class, reinforced in part by pensions, and encouraged by employer indifference to the working ability of older people. The expenditure survey comes up with some significant figures. In 1925, it reports, there were twenty younger persons for each one over sixty-five—today only twelve standing back of those over sixty-five. The figures may suggest the cure, painfully slow though it be. Whenever there are not enough young people to fill the jobs, the employer will be glad to hire those of more advanced years.

"Poore Li'l Flower"

Col. Robert McCormick of the Chicago Tribune has unlimited journalistic achievements to his credit, but apparently he saved the best for the last. He blames the late Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City for the present water shortage in America's metropolis.

In a letter recently, a friend offers a different view of it, in calling attention to one of the most antiquated water systems in America. "Except for certain limited industrial uses," he writes, "water has never been metered there as elsewhere. Charges are flat annual fees based on the front footage of each building, and for buildings over a certain height, an added charge based on the number of water outlets. This system was devised nearly a century ago by and for a handful of landowners. The New York Water Department is now considering metering apartment houses, having discovered that they are responsible for most wastage. I am more inclined to believe that leaky plumbing is more to blame.

"According to the 1940 statistics, the property in New York City is owned by approximately 200,000 people or corporations, including all the private homeowners. The last population figure gave New York City 8,100,000 people."

Tenancy may be one of the factors in New York's present routine of bathless and shaveless days. But neither it nor drouth could deter the colonel from taking a crack at the dead La Guardia.

Bromfield's Valley

General Samuel D. Sturgis may have given undue attention to some of Louis Bromfield's nonsense. Nebraskans will recall that when Novelist Bromfield visited the state several weeks ago, he poohed the idea of spending millions for the big dams now under construction on the upper Missouri river. He pointed to his own verdant Muskingum Valley in Ohio as the shining example of successful, intelligent demonstration of the soundness of river control through the practices of soil conservation, forestation and construction of small dams. Mr. Bromfield's heart is all right even if his information is a bit foggy. "I am sure Mr. Bromfield must be aware that the fourteen dams and reservoirs constructed in the Muskingum River valley were built by the corps of engineers," General Sturgis told county officials, meeting in Omaha. General Sturgis should not be too sure about that. If correctly quoted, Bromfield apparently did not know there were any dams or reservoirs along the Muskingum. The fellow lives with his head in the clouds a lot of the time.

BIG PUDDLE; LITTLE FELLA

BY J. E. LAWRENCE

(This is the sixth of a series of articles bearing upon Missouri Basin development.)

I have in front of me a letter which represents a great deal of study and thought, from which this paragraph is taken:

"If we are going to have this development (Missouri Basin), how much better it would be to have some organization, whether it is called an MVA or anything else, which leaves the controls in the hands of the people affected, and an organization close enough to the little fella so that his complaints and requests can be heard."

As indicated last week, before too long the peoples of the states of the Missouri Basin are entitled to know the plan for administration of Missouri Basin development, including the huge dams and reservoirs, some of which are now under construction. They have a right to know not only how the show is to be run, but who will run it. And they have a right to know something about the estimated costs.

For the entire basin, the cost estimates run into the billions, depending, of course, upon the extent to which congress provides money for a vast program.

Recently there was a bird's-eye view of Missouri Basin development in its effect upon Nebraska. It will add, so it is said, 1,273,000 acres to the presently irrigated area in this state. The plans propose sixteen reservoirs on various Nebraska streams, providing at maximum capacity for storage of 3,280,000 acre-feet, together with power plants producing an estimated 30,000 kilowatts of electricity.

On the basis of 1947 prices, the estimated total capital cost of these Nebraska developments, which are part of the plan for Missouri Basin, is given as $517,134,604, allocated as follows among the multiple purposes embraced in river basin development:

Irrigation	$ 458,339,000
Power	16,750,000
Flood Control	12,651,604
Municipal and Domestic Water	4,217,000
Fish and Wild Life	2,810,000
Recreation	22,367,000

Total $ 517,134,604

Note: The figures do not include the costs of an agricultural program, estimated at 8 to 10 billion for the basin, combining a 100-year conservation program into 30 years.

Now to pick up the check; that is, to set forth the specific amounts charged to each item in multiple-purpose river developments, and to set forth those sums to be repaid to the federal treasury, and the amount which represents an outright grant, or Uncle Sam's generosity:

Repayment by Water Users and Reclamation Districts	$ 432,069,590
Irrigation Pumping Power and Municipal Water	13,429,500
To Irrigation by Commercial Power and Municipal Water	26,269,410
Commercial Power	7,537,500
Non-Reimbursable—Flood Control, Recreation, Fish & Wild Life	37,828,604
Total	$ 517,134,604

Note: These figures obviously do not include any revenue for power sold in the state but generated outside Nebraska's borders.

The figures of costs merely reinforce and emphasize what has been said here so many times. Unless the costs of irrigation are to become prohibitive, a crushing burden on the land, the chief source of revenue must be the vast amounts of electricity which it is contemplated will be generated at the great dams. That is why we've said on every occasion that it is a fatal mistake to maintain silence in connection with the sale and distribution of Missouri Basin power. Here in the Nebraska program alone, irrigators over a period of forty years, if reclamation practices are followed in their present form, will assume a debt of $432,069,590. However, the length of the period of amortization of the debt could be lengthened, and present planning is to stretch repayment over the next eighty-nine years, making the final payment-due date, 2038.

Why this prolonged silence upon electricity in connection with Missouri Basin development? In Nebraska today, revenues in connection with the vast Platte Valley development, Kingsley Dam and McConaughy Reservoir and the supplemental works over the last two years have been on the basis of about seven dollars from power sales to every dollar from irrigation water sales. In this atmosphere of "hush" when it comes to electricity a part of the harmony theme to say nothing or discuss nothing that might stir up opposition, reflecting itself on the floor of congress; in this instance, activity on the part of privately owned utilities opposed naturally and understandably to the sale and distribution of electricity publicly? The private utilities, strongly entrenched in most of these Missouri Basin states; Nebraska being the only exception with a statewide public power program; want to cut in, purchase electricity at the bus bar and distribute it to the consumer at a profit to themselves. The time has come for the frankest discussion of costs, of administration of a Missouri Basin, whether it be by locally created authority or a congressionally created authority. Upon that depends not only the efficient operation but the financial soundness.

In the drouth 'thirties, I was riding with a colleague on the Nebraska PWA Advisory Board, a pioneer Nebraskan, the late Dan Stephens of Fremont. We were passing through a particularly distressing, grim stretch, the deep, fertile soil blown, and tortured by an absence of rainfall. Crops were withered, fields brown, farms falling into disrepair. He thought of the great dam on the upper Platte and whispered that years hence the land would be reborn and a new agricultural empire would arise. Missouri Basin development is so everlastingly important to the American people; so decent that it deserves more frank discussion than it has received. Tomorrow, more about Nebraska's part in Missouri Basin development.

OFF THE RECORD

By ED REED

"That's a cancelled check for the COW he shot this year."

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Truman is still brooding over the licking he took trying to reapoint Leland Olds to the federal power commission.

Though it's too late to change the results, the president found another letter endorsing Olds and sent it right up to the senate the other day. He scribbled an accompanying note to Vice President Barkley, asking him to insert it in the Congressional Record.

The letter in favor of the lost cause was written by Senator-elect Lehman of New York to Ed Johnson of Colorado, chairman of the senate commerce committee.

So many loopholes have been written into the proposed new directive that the military could cut off contact information to newspapers almost at will. For example, before a newspaper would be eligible to receive procurement information, it must not only agree to publish all "synopses of bid invitation" but also publish them "in the same detail in which they are received." This is a condition few newspapers would accept.

This tentative directive was drawn up by Rear Adm. Morton L. Ring of the munitions board, now in charge of Pentagon "procurement policy." When asked how the brass hats got away with violating the law by negotiating 90 per cent of all contracts, Admiral Ring's only answer was: "that depends upon your interpretation of the law."

Note—Last summer, the senate expenditures committee staged a healthy probe of "five per centers," the influence boys who try to swing government contracts. As a result, Maj. Gen. Alden Waitt was eased out as head of chemical warfare, the quartermaster general, was also caught dabbling in favoritism through Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan was revealed as a potent (Continued On Page Five) which finally vetoed the Olds appointment. Johnson, who was against Olds, never made the letter public.

But when the president got hold of a copy, he sent it to Barkley with a note "to the vice president" scribbled on yellow scratch paper.

"This is a copy of a letter Governor Lehman wrote Ed Johnson about Olds," wrote the president. "I don't think it saw daylight. Will you see that it goes in the record? We must have a complete record on this event—HST."

Note—Since his appointment to the federal power commission replacing Olds, Truman's old friend, ex-Senator Mon Wallgren, has gone back on him. Recently Wallgren voted to give electric power from Kingman's canyon, in the central valley of California, to Pacific Gas and Electric, despite the fact that it is Truman's fixed policy to favor public power in this area.

Secretary of commerce Sawyer published shocking figures recently about the growth of monopoly in the U.S.A. Yet not far away, in another government building, Secretary Sawyer could find one reason for monopoly.

It is the incorrigible, at times illegal, determination of the armed forces to place their orders only with their old friends, the big corporations.

All you need do is examine the published figures of the armed forces to see that the average businessman has no more chance of getting a government contract than he has of making an atomic bomb.

When you consider that military orders comprise that great bulk of our gigantic federal budget, you can understand how the company which gets on the inside with the brass hats, also gets the inside on monopoly.

Public law 413 is supposed to provide all businessmen an equal chance, through competitive bidding, to compete for government orders. However, it specifies 17 minor exceptions where competitive bids are not necessary, and the military have now stretched these exceptions to cover 90 per cent of all procurement.

In other words, 90 per cent of all army, navy and air force contracts are now let by private negotiation. Competitive bidding is almost completely out the window.

During the war, competitive bidding was abandoned on the excuse that speed was necessary. Huge contracts were let overnight on a cost-plus basis on the plea that the 30-day period to receive bids meant loss of life. It remains a fact that the big companies still have the inside track and get most of the contracts. One way this is done is by hiring top army-navy executives to work for the big companies.

For instance, able Gen. Harry Ingles, once in command of the

AUTO LICENSE FEES

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: News reports this morning say that the county commissioners in session have ok'd the first gas tax raise and the $3 raise on automobile license fees. Why didn't they tell the truth about the matter? There are such a few cars in the minimum class. For those of 2,500 pounds and below, the raise is 100 per cent, for those between 2,500 and 2,850 pounds, 160 per cent, and for those above 2,850 pounds, 60 per cent. Why don't public officials tell the full facts when they pass a resolution? Many people are going to be surprised when they get their new license plates and find that the fee has been increased. It is better for the public to know about these matters.

B. S. KECK
Note: The facts relative to the increase in license fees for different classes of cars have been printed in this newspaper many times.

FOR GERMAN CHILDREN

Washington, D. C.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Through the courtesy of a number of newspapers in different sections of the country, I called attention a year ago to the General Clay Fund for German Children. That plan of assistance and rehabilitation is being continued. Our army of occupation has established some 200 youth centers in the American zone. They are being used by more than 800,000 German children. They are maintained by voluntary subscription. The importance of the work they are doing cannot be overestimated. Through them, these youngsters are given the opportunity to study and to learn. They are the future citizens of a country which may control the destiny of Europe. This year as last, the plea is for Christmas day. The packages are already in Germany. As fast as money is received, they are released by wire.

JOUETT SCHOUSE

DEMOCRATIC RESPONSIBILITY

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Sir Stafford Cripps, British secretary of the treasury, was asked about deficit financing and unbalanced budgets in England. He was informed our people are debating whether or not to go in for additional social security measures, and if social security can be made economically sound in a democracy where the people can vote themselves bigger pensions. He suggested that depends upon the responsibility of the democracy. The British people find it is possible by keeping the people fully informed of economic facts to instill in their minds that they themselves are in fact paying for their own social security benefits by increasing taxes, and

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The old saying about war being too important to entrust to the generals goes also for the preparation for the kind of security that may prevent war. That is, in effect, the warning of the committee for economic development which has brought out a highly important report on the vast new peacetime program for America's defense.

Of course, the committee was saying more than that. They were saying that even though it is necessary to spend billions of dollars for military security, the basic ideals of our democracy must never be lost sight of. Above all, two fundamentals:

1. Civilians must exercise the final controls.
2. The people must be kept informed lest barriers of military secrecy conceal changes profoundly altering the American way of life.

If the committee had wanted a perfect example of the hush-hush attitude and how it cloaks decisions the average citizen may be entirely unaware of, they might have pointed to the atomic talks with Great Britain. Here is the story in more detail than has yet been printed.

Last summer when the question of sharing information and techniques with Great Britain came to a focus, President Truman reached a major decision. First, he decided there should be a full atomic partnership with Britain. Second, and equally important, he decided the American public should be fully informed about the issue and what it meant. The American people were to be told, short of actual technical information, what we had to give and what we had to gain.

In the first closed meeting in Blair House, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower took more or less the same position. He was for full atomic partnership with the British.

But shortly thereafter other fees were brought to bear on the White House. It was at this time that Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper was pressing his charges of "fantastic mismanagement" against Lillenthal and the committee; charges later repudiated by a majority of the senate-house atomic energy committee.

Before that committee Eisenhower, Lillenthal and others immediately concerned with the atomic talks argued the issue. After Eisenhower had stated his position, Hickenlooper wagged his finger at him:

"What you say may be true militarily, general. But you don't think for a moment, do you, that the American people will stand for it? We have to consider public opinion."

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE

Last night at a spaghetti salon, I got to talking with a reformed bootlegger who is currently the Mister Big of a big whiskey company.

"What do you hear from the mob?" I asked.

"Anything that would fill up three sheets of copy paper?"

The former Man of Extinction thought a minute. "There is one story I don't remember seeing in print," he said. It's about an old man named Ronowitz who ran a candy store on the East Side around the time Dutch Schultz was buying his first delivery trucks.

One night as the storekeeper was about to lock up, a hoodlum stepped into the shop and pressed a gun against the old man's middle. "Hide me somewhere," he said.

The old man knew better than to argue with a revolver. "Who's chasing you?" he asked, as he opened the trap door which led to the cellar.

"Some fellas from Jersey." When they got to the basement, Ronowitz pointed to a couple of old mattresses near the coal bin. "Lay down," he said, "and I'll make a sandwich."

A minute later the storekeeper had rolled man and mattresses into a bundle and tied it with a piece of old clothesline. As he started back up to the store, a couple of men, guns in hand, came down the stairs. "Whatcha doin' in the cellar?" asked one.

"Bankin' the furnace," said the old man.

The gent from Jersey poked around in the trash barrels, examined the coal bin and then came to the rolled-up mattresses.

"I'll throw a bull-t into them for luck," said one of them.

"You been seen' too many movies," said the other. "Let's try the roof."

The mobsters went upstairs and Ronowitz heard the door bang. He banked the fire, and waited in his store until he saw the men climb surely will exercise restraint in utilizing social benefits. Many feel we should wait to see how the plan works out in England. We already have agencies to help the unemployed through financial depressions. Sir Cripps is optimistic as to the capacity of self-governed units to restrain spending, especially where politics makes votes through government handouts, but he is reassuring, nevertheless, the dangers of reckless spending by governments. Citizens of the U. S. A. will be just as happy as the British can possibly be when our nations are back to normal.

Von Manstein Headed For Prison

Former Field Marshal Is Given 18 Years For Atrocities During War

... Sentence Pronounced By British Military Court

HAMBURG, Germany—(AP)—A British military court today sentenced former Field Marshal Erich Von Manstein to 18 years imprisonment for atrocities against Poles and Russians committed by German troops during the war.

man troops under his command during the nazi invasion of Poland and Russia.

Long Imprisonment.
The president of the court said the sentence would date from today. The sentence is subject to confirmation by higher authority. The decision to try the German field marshal after such a lengthy imprisonment had aroused much controversy in Britain. Wartime Prime Minister Winston Churchill was among the prominent people who subscribed to a fund to provide English counsel to defend him.

Three other German war leaders were also to have been tried by the British. But Field Marshal Walter Von Brauchitsch died in captivity, and British army doctors ruled that Marshal Gen. Von Rundstedt and Col. Gen. Adolf Strauss were unfit to stand trial. They were released.

Tomorrow Manstein will be taken to the prison at Werl, near Hamm, where he will join two other former German commanders-in-chief, Field Marshals Albert Kesselring and Nikolaus Von Falkenhorst, who are serving war crimes sentences there.

Manstein's face had remained impassive while the sentence was pronounced.

BRAKES FAIL AS AIRLINER IS LANDING

... 26 Escape Unhurt

CHICAGO—(AP)—A Trans-world airliner plowed through two wire fences, sheared off a light pole, knocked down a stone pillar and clipped the corner of a cafe at Municipal airport yesterday without injury to any of 26 persons aboard.

The four-engine Constellation came to a halt in normally busy Cicero avenue, an express highway along the side of the airport. It arrived at 8 a. m. from San Francisco carrying 21 passengers and a crew of five.

Capt. Stanley M. Kasper, a TWA pilot for 15 years, blamed the plane's braking mechanism for the mishap. He said he made a normal landing in the muggy weather but that "the brakes were just not there."

The plane was badly damaged.

Editorial Men Strike Against Ark. 'Gazette'

... Publishing Continues

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(INS)—A federal conciliator and state officials sought today to negotiate a strike of editorial workers on the 103-year-old Arkansas Gazette—the oldest newspaper west of the Mississippi river.

The newspaper has continued publishing, despite the work stoppage which was called Saturday by about 21 Newspaper Guild workers.

Officials said the chief issue at stake is the Guild's demand for a voice in the dismissal of employees.

Printers crossed Guild picket lines without incident.

Gazette Publisher Hugh B. Patterson said:

"We will continue to publish as long as we are physically able. I hope that will be for quite a while."

Charles A. Wheeler of Little Rock, a federal conciliator, and C. K. Call, Arkansas labor commissioner, are attempting to bring both sides together to end the strike.

Carried To Safety

WAYNE, Neb.—Two aged men were carried to safety Saturday when fire broke out in a residence here. The men were John Douthitt, 93, and William Jones, 90. Fire Chief Paul Rogge, who carried the men out, suffered blistered hands, as did Mrs. C. W. Hiseox, at whose home the fire occurred. Damage was estimated at $10,000. Chief Rogge said the fire started in the closet in Jones' room.

Little Florida Town Gets Set For Wedding

... Of Mayor O'Dwyer

STUART, Fla.—(AP)—This east coast town of 2,500 prepared today for its biggest event since its last hurricane—the marriage of New York's mayor, William O'Dwyer, to Miss Elizabeth Sloan Simpson.

The 50-year-old mayor of the nation's largest city and the Texas-born former model will be married at 7:30 a. m. (CST) tomorrow in St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Because this tourist and fishing town has only three regular policemen, it has asked for five state highway patrolmen and three Martin county sheriff's deputies to help handle the anticipated crowd.

"This is the biggest thing to hit Stuart since the August hurricane," said state Senator Evans Crary.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Timothy J. Geary and will take about 15 minutes. The solemn nuptial mass will be omitted.

Miss Simpson, 33 and a divorcee, said she will wear a simple navy blue suit with a blue velvet beret, blue suede shoes and matching accessories. She will wear a single strand pearl necklace and pearl earrings.

O'Dwyer is a widower and Miss Simpson's former marriage did not take place in a Catholic church.

So-American Beauty Not Sure How Many Millions She Inherited

NEW YORK—(INS)—Shoerred Maria Alvarez-Calderon, 20-year-old "Queen of the Americas," isn't sure exactly how much money she inherited from her late grandfather, Peruvian cattle and mining baron Eulogio Fernandez.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Continued from Page Four.) wire-puller, it is only fair to point out that his influence was used on the side of small companies.

Congressman Porter Hardy, jr., of Virginia, who has stepped on a lot of people's toes in his investigation of the maritime commission's extravagance, could hardly believe his eyes when he opened the mail the other day. In it he found two congratulatory letters from individuals whose toes he had stepped on.

The first was from his colleague, Rep. Schuyler Otis Bland, also from Virginia, chairman of the merchant marine and fisheries committee. Bland was tossing bricks at Hardy when the probe started, and had not been enthusiastic about going into the charges of waste and incompetence leveled at the maritime commission by Comptroller General Lindsay Warren. But being a fair-minded congressman, he changed his mind.

The second congratulatory letter was more amazing. It came from Maj. Gen. Philip Fleming, new chairman of the maritime commission, who, while not responsible for the agency's fouled-up affairs, had resented the Hardy probe and claimed the maritime commission was being "persecuted."

General Fleming's letter to Hardy, however, was just the opposite. It talked about good will, cooperation, and a promise to clean up the maritime commission.

Note—Insiders say Fleming hung up the boxing gloves because: 1) he learned that the charges made by Lindsay Warren and investigated by Hardy were true; and 2) President Truman has directed Fleming to co-operate fully with the congressional committee in putting the commission's house in order.

Davey Church Is Dedicated

... Daylong Ceremonies

DAVEY, Neb.—Dedication ceremonies for the Bethlehem Lutheran church were held here Sunday, completing a job which began over three years ago after the old building was destroyed by fire.

The day-long ceremonies started at 10 a. m. with the unveiling of the cornerstone by Rev. Gudmund Peterson, minister of the new church. The stone structure was dedicated in the honor of members who served in the congregation since it was founded in 1891.

At 10:30, Rev. Alfred Jensen, Des Moines president of the Danish Evangelical Lutheran synod, addressed the congregation at the regular dedication ceremony. Rev. Jensen also delivered the morning sermon.

The afternoon session included a discussion by Rev. Howard Christensen of Dannebrog, president of the Nebraska district. This was followed by an informal hour of speeches.

Rev. F. D. Rodholm, Des Moines, conducted the evening communion service.

Omaha Couple Is Held In Murray Tavern Burglary

PLATTSBURGH, Neb.—(AP)—An Omaha man and his wife were in custody today following a burglary Sunday night of the Ratke tavern at Murray, Neb., Sheriff Tom Solomon said.

The sheriff identified the couple as Tony Gonzalious, 40, and his wife, Virgil. In the back seat of the car driven by Mrs. Gonzalious, Solomon said he found the couple's two small children.

While "scouting around," Solomon said he neared the tavern and noticed a window broken. Investigating, he said he saw Gonzalious run from the building and a car driven by his wife attempt to leave.

Solomon said he chased the car on foot, ordering the driver to halt. Mrs. Gonzalious halted, and the sheriff said he found the children under a blanket in the back seat.

A searching party was organized, but Solomon said "Gonzalious approached me and turned himself in."

Merchandise taken from the tavern and from the Sam Smith service station at Weeping Water, Neb., was found in the car, Solomon said.

Gonzalious, he said, recently was released from the state penitentiary at Lincoln.

(Special to The Star)
MADISON, Neb.—Funeral services for Henry Petersen, 89, pioneer Madison county resident, were held Sunday afternoon. He died Thursday following an extended illness.

Born in Germany, he came to the U. S. many years ago and settled near Madison. He became a prominent farmer here, retiring several years ago.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Stuart Huddle, and Mrs. Tillie Dopsch, both of Madison; a son, Andrew, also of Madison; six grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Applications Complete For 12 Projects

Plan To Extend Over Six Years

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Nebraska is benefiting from the national hospital program which will permit the building of $2,250,000,000 of hospitals in the next six years.

Applications have been completed for 12 projects with a total cost of $4,570,000.

Another three projects, estimated to cost an additional $495,000 are pending in the hospital service section of the federal security agency.

Funds Doubled.

The program is the creation of the Hill-Burton act which became law in August, 1946. And last October the 81st congress gave it a shot in the arm by doubling the funds available for federal grants-in-aid to $150,000,000 annually and extending the life of the program for another six years.

The FSA listed this as the program status in mid-December: Completed applications for grants totaled 638 calling for about $125,000,000 of federal funds and $279,000,000 of state or local monies.

Applications number 346, calling for $73,000,000 of federal funds and about $169,000,000 of state or local monies.

Albert V. Whitehall, director of the American Hospital association, hails the program as a great step forward in making hospital care accessible to everyone.

"And this isn't just a federal hand-out in the usual sense," says this earnest young man. "This is something the people are doing for themselves; it is their program."

But his enthusiasm doesn't exceed that of the man who directs the program within the FSA—Dr. John W. Cronin, a balding man in his 40s who attained his medical maturity in the U. S. public health service.

"20 Years Behind Need."

"The nation is 20 years behind in meeting the need for hospital facilities," he told a reporter. "We couldn't build hospitals during the depression—no money. And we couldn't build hospitals during the war—no materials."

"But now we have an orderly program that should mean the construction of at least 3,000 new hospitals within the next two years."

"The benefits the program will bring to the health of our people will be tremendous. But, too, this whole thing will have a terrific impact for good on our whole economy."

The law provides for the application of a complicated formula, taking into consideration the need for additional facilities and the wealth of the people, in arranging for the local matching of federal funds.

Construction Under Way.

Here is a list of hospitals in Nebraska for which applications have been completed and construction is under way with the total cost and federal share cited:

Albion, Boone County Community hospital, new, 20 beds, $169,500 and $36,500.
Chappell, Miller Memorial hospital, new, 14 beds, $184,500 and $40,500.
Crete, Municipal hospital, new, 25 beds, $222,274 and $48,900.
Hebron, Thayer County Memorial hospital, remodeling and equipment, $94,750 and $20,625.
Kimball, County hospital, new, 24 beds, $224,000 and $49,280.
Oakland, Oakland Memorial hospital, new, 20 beds, $246,887 and $54,000.
Scottsbluff, St. Mary's hospital, new, replacing equipment, $1,302,842 and $287,747.
Seward, Memorial hospital, new, 26 beds, $230,361 and $50,754.
Wakefield, Community hospital, new, 18 beds, $179,262 and $39,090.
West Point, Memorial hospital, new, 75 beds, $1,217,554 and $272,065.
Crawford, Community Memorial hospital, new, 12 beds, $189,002 and $42,681.
Wahoo, Saunders County Community hospital, new, 25 beds, $317,940 and $70,800.

On the pending list are:

Burnell, Burnell hospital, new, 17 beds, $160,000 and $35,000.

Nebraska News

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—Moist air from the Pacific has brought light snow to a large area west of the Rockies. Light to moderate rains have fallen in the southwest and near the Pacific coast and mostly light rainfall occurred since early Sunday in the eastern states except the extreme southeast. High pressure overlies southwestern Canada, with the attending cold air mass extending to Montana, where temperatures early Monday were from 10 to 17 below zero in the northwest portion, and around zero in other portions of the state. Lowest temperatures over North Dakota were 10 to 20 above, and over South Dakota 12 to 24. Lowest over Nebraska ranged from 17 in the northwest to the middle 30s in the southeast corner. Light snow was falling Monday morning in several localities in the area from Montana to northern Minnesota.

George Burr, Sr., Former Publisher At Aurora, Dies

(Special to The Star)

AURORA, Neb.—Funeral services for George L. Burr, sr., 90, former Aurora newspaper editor, will be held here Wednesday afternoon. He died Saturday at the home of his son, George L. Burr, jr., publisher of the Winter Haven Herald at Winter Haven, Fla.

A prominent and highly esteemed citizen, Mr. Burr left Aurora about 12 years ago after retiring from more than 50 years in the newspaper business. In 1894 he became secretary to the late Rep. William L. Stark of Nebraska. Later he returned to Aurora to resume editorship of the Hamilton County Register.

Burr was a native of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. After serving as principal of schools at Gaylor and Smith Center, Kas., he entered the newspaper field as editor and publisher of the Smith County, Kas., Record in 1882.

Later he edited and published the following newspapers in Nebraska: Riverside Enterprise, Stratton Gazette, Campbell Press, Blue Hill Mirror and Times, Lawrence Locomotion and the Hamilton County Register at Aurora.

He was prominent member of the Populist party in Hamilton county.

Surviving are three sons, A. L., living in California, George L., jr., and Edwin, both living in Florida.

Rep. Curtis Raps Steel Price Hike

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The farmer will take the rap for the recent boost in steel prices, in the opinion of Rep. Curtis (Re-Neb). Curtis declared the effect of the raise "certainly will be felt all down the line in such items as autos, farm machinery and other products made of steel." However, particularly adversely affected will be the farmers who must buy machinery.

Curtis declared he is not opposed to high wages, but "when efforts to gain increased wages and pensions result in price spirals, the workers themselves end up with less buying power."

Mrs. Sarah Powell, Jefferson County Pioneer, Is Dead

(Special to The Star)

POWELL, Neb.—Mrs. Sarah Powell, 94, died at her home here Friday. She was a pioneer resident of Jefferson county.

Surviving are a son, John, and three daughters, Mrs. Clara Schwartz, Powell, Mrs. Eva Schwitter, living in Mississippi, and Mrs. Inez Schwiner, Winner, S. D.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

New Pressure To Get Miners Back To Work Fuel Reserves Shrink

PITTSBURGH —(AP)—President Truman and congress may have to face a problem next month—how to get John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers back on a five-day work week.

Pressure is increasing in some quarters for the president to invoke the Taft-Hartley act. Industry leaders say Lewis has created a national emergency through the four full scale walk-outs he's called this year and the three-day week which he has ordered indefinitely for his 480,000 United Mine Workers.

There's enough coal on hand for about three months unless unusually cold weather prevails. But retailers and steel companies are watching their dwindling stockpiles and are worried.

Dig Into Reserves. The steel companies are starting to eat up their reserves. They're trying to catch up with the production they lost during the recent 42-day old strike of the CIO United Steelworkers.

It all adds up to increasing pressure on the industry and Lewis to get together on a contract to extend the one which expired last June 30.

Lewis isn't saying anything. But he's keeping a close watch on efforts of his lieutenants to get independent soft coal operators to sign contracts and break away from the solid front maintained by the industry's leaders. Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing with the anthracite operators who employ about 80,000 miners.

U. M. W. officers say some contracts have been signed to cover a few of the 400,000 soft coal miners. They haven't said how many, but indicate about 10 per cent of the national tonnage. Top coal spokesmen scoff at the figures. Meanwhile, industry leaders want the Taft-Hartley act to get all diggers back into the pits on a five-day week. Former Rep. Fred Hartley, co-author of the labor law, also is plumping for such action. In a speech in St. Anthony, City N. J. yesterday, Hartley declared Lewis "the nation's No. 1 oil-burner salesman." He referred to companies and homes which have switched from coal to oil for fuel.

Boy Put On Probation, Admits Money Thefts

A 12-year-old Lincoln youth was placed on probation to juvenile authorities in Juvenile court after admitting thefts of money from coats and purses at the University of Nebraska school of music.

He was one of the two boys who used the money to buy rifles for which a Lincoln man was fined $10 in Municipal court Thursday on a charge of selling firearms to a minor. The other youth—13 years old—was placed on probation a week ago.

$78 Settlement—Forest Bettem was awarded a lump sum settlement of $78 against the Valley Ice company following approval of both parties in District court Saturday. Bettem claimed he was struck with a cake of ice in 1947.

Yule Tree Presented At Capitol Ceremony

"Nearly 2,000 years ago into a world of tired, discouraged, cynical, selfish and distrustful people, Jesus Christ came with a philosophy of meekness with emphasis on the virtues of fairness, trust, kindness and meekness," Gov. Val Peterson told an audience that jammed the senate chamber in accepting a state Christmas tree from the Lincoln junior chamber of commerce.

At a recent meeting of public officials, he said, he found them cynical, tired, discouraged, selfish and distrustful. From the meeting, the governor said, he went to the street jammed with Christmas shoppers.

"Eager young faces were pressed to display windows as they listened to the age old traditions in nursery rhymes told by parents," he continued. "Watching them you realized that new faces are coming into our world, unafraid and willing to accept the challenge of the times.

"You realized that if these new faces are to attack their problems without fear it must come from the philosophy of meekness rather than from cynical, tired, selfish and distrustful teachings."

On accepting the tree from President Dean Kerl of the junior chamber, the governor praised the "fine series of dignified programs" they have given over the years.

Dr. Winton Beaven of Union college made the opening and closing announcements and introduced Karl A. musical program by quartets from Lincoln and Beatrice completed the program of Christmas music.

Participating were the Keymasters quartet, Four-casters quartet and the Cornhusker and Beatrice chapters of SPEBSQSA. Jess Williams was piano accompanist.

Millionaire Wins Battle To Build Huge Nativity Scene

DALLAS, Tex.—(INS)—A Texas multimillionaire who spends thousands of dollars annually erecting a huge nativity scene in his front yard in Dallas was witness today that the age-old representation of Christ's birth has not lost its appeal.

H. W. Snowden, oil and busi- man, had to fight neighbors and a reluctant city council to stage his exhibit this year. But he said that public appreciation has made the battle well worth while.

Snowden announced some time ago that he would erect the exhibit again this year and immediately faced opposition from wealthy neighbors. Seven neighbors complained to him that the display caused traffic tieups and noise and constituted a nuisance.

Complain To City. When Snowden refused to change his plans they complained to the city council.

The council thought it over and suggested that he move the exhibit to Fair Park, huge summer-time home of the Texas State fair.

Snowden, a prominent Baptist layman, again refused to budge.

Then the councilmen decided that they could not ban the exhibit because people might think they discriminated against religion.

Council Compromises. They compromised by prohibiting parking within a block of the scene and assigning seven patrolmen nightly to the area, instead of the five used last year.

The Snowden exhibit is even more impressive than it was last year. When it was three-quarters finished, the oilman estimated that he had spent $20,000. He has not announced the total cost.

At night the scene is illuminated by more than 10,000 lights in the trees. Snowden watches the on-lookers with a smile. He announced: "There were 10 times more spectators on the first night this year than last. And the beautiful part of it is scores of people came up and shook my hand, praising me for the stand I took."

"What better exemplifies the Christmas spirit than such a scene?"

Woman's Death Brings Sioux City's Death Toll To 20; Six 'Serious'

SIoux CITY, Ia. — (AP) — Mrs. Alice Hammond, 25, died at 1 a. m. today, the 20th fatality of the explosion at the Swift & Co. packing plant here last Wednesday.

The Sioux City woman was a bookkeeper.

Thirty-eight persons injured in the blast remained in hospitals today. Six persons previously listed as in critical condition now are reported in serious condition.

Six of the injured were released from hospitals yesterday.

Betrothal News From Berlin

... Takes Top Honors Today

OF PARTICULAR INTEREST TO Lincoln society circles, and to Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae is the news from Berlin, Germany—

For today Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Day are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Dr. Carl G. Anthon.

A mid-winter wedding, which will take place in Dahlem Dorf church, Berlin, Dahlem, Germany is planned.

Miss Day received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and her master's degree from Northwestern university. Prior to her present association with the American Y.W.C.A., in Berlin, where she has been the past two and one-half years, Miss Day served on the staff of the Gadsdill Hill Settlement House in Chicago, and was in charge of the youth group work at the Henry street Settlement in New York City.

She also served as assistant secretary of the National Federation of Settlements, and was the director of the Huntington Club Neighborhood House in Syracuse, N. Y.

Dr. Anthon attended the University of Oregon. He received his B. A. degree from the University of Chicago, and his Ph.D. from Harvard university. Before joining the staff of the military government in Berlin, intelligence branch, early in 1949 he was associate professor of history at Colby college, Maine.

Both Miss Day and her fiancé will continue their present work in Berlin.

BUT AS EXCITING AS THE engagement from Berlin may be, we have popular brides and brides-to-be at home—

Two of them, Mrs. John Hoyt, the former Juliet Rathbone, and Miss Jane McArthur, whose marriage to John Robert Connolly will be an event of December 23, will share honors on Tuesday evening when Mrs. Russell Gustavson, the former Peggy Lawrence, and Mrs. Jerry Whalen will be hostesses on Tuesday evening at the home of Chancellor and Mrs. R. G. Gustavson. Twelve guests have been invited for a dessert supper and one-gift showers for the honorees.

MORE NEWS OF MISS McARTHUR concerns her bridal party—For her matron of honor Miss McArthur has chosen her sister, Mrs. Robert H. Weber of Cedar Falls, Ia., and her bridesmaids will be Miss Jane Connolly of Elmdale, Kas., sister of the bridegroom; Miss Barbara Polite, Miss Peggy Ellis, and Miss Janet Fairchild. The candles will be lighted by Miss Charlyn Collision of Holdrege, and Miss Betty Green, and the flower girls will be Pamela and Carol Noetz.

Rodney Lindwall of Omaha will serve Mr. Connolly as best man, and the list of ushers will include David Miller and Thomas Moore, Omaha; Fritz Simpson, Atlantic, Ia.; Ralph Clark, Wichita, Kas.; William Mickie, Nebraska City, and Robert H. Weber, Cedar Falls, Ia.

COMPLIMENTING MISS McARTHUR, Mrs. Paul Royal and her daughter, Miss Polly Royal, were hostess at luncheon today at their home. Luncheon places

COLONIAL VILLAGE

Village residents have been most business-like the past week, both adults and members of the scooter set, with few minutes out for relaxing as preparation for Santa's arrival on Christmas eve has been the concern of all up and down Winthrop, Alden, Mayflower, Colonial Drive and Puritan.

Mr. Flavel Wright took time out last Thursday morning to entertain ten of her neighbors at an informal coffee, all in the cause for Kris Kringle, and Tuesday evening, Mrs. Willard Young deserted her package-wrapping, cookie-baking routine to be hostess at a bridge eight-some at her home.

The one bright spot in the week of activity was the Christmas dance of the One Hundred club held Friday evening at the Hotel Cornhusker. But even that had its complications as on Friday evening, also, the pupils and faculty of Sheridan school entertained at their annual Christmas program which was a "must" for all village parents. But the female residents of the community solved even that problem by foregoing their usual gala party finery and wearing instead simple, street-length frocks so that both affairs were well attended.

Arriving in the village in time to be the holiday guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Flavel Wright, will be Mrs. E. J. Fleetwood who has been spending the autumn months at Montclair, N. J., with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Ramey (Virginia Fleetwood), and Mr. Ramey.

Christmas dinner for the Wright family will be held on Sunday and will follow the ceremony of package-opening by Bill, Lynn and Gregg Wright.

After the holidays, Mrs. Fleetwood will resume her journey to the west coast where she will spend the remainder of the winter with her daughters, Mrs. Frank Sanderson, and Mr. Sanderson at Pomona, Cal., and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, and Mr. Robinson, at Los Angeles.

Expected to arrive Christmas eve for the holiday week end will be Mrs. B. J. Robinson of St. Joseph, Mo., who will be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Robinson, and, of course, her grandsons, Peter and Johnny. And completing the family gathering around the dinner table Christmas eve at the Irvin Roswell home will be Mrs. Roswell's mother Mrs. G. W. Nimocks.

Janie Wescott is looking forward to Christmas morning, naturally, and the wonderful things to be found under the Christmas tree (a fairly new experience for her), after which she will accompany her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wescott, to Plattsmouth where they will attend the family dinner to be held at the home of Mr. Wescott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wescott.

A family gathering on Christmas day of considerable size and, we predict, confusion will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. North. The group will include the Norths, Jake and Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Ralston Graham and Johnny, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moses and their sons, Steven and Billy.

One family in Colonial Village, however, is much too busy preparing for a wedding to be much concerned over the approach of Christmas. Miss Patricia Norval, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Norval, jr., has chosen Monday, December 26, as the day of her marriage to Roger J. Locke, which will be solemnized at 2 o'clock in the morning at St. Teresa church.

A recent pre-nuptial affair honoring Miss Norval was the miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. Monroe Locke of Hallam, was hostess at her home to thirty-five guests.

Matron of honor and Miss Norval's only attendant will be Mrs. John Sitzman, and serving Mr. Locke as best man will be Duane Grady.

Lincoln School Pupils Give Traditional Yule Programs

The time-honored custom for American children to "speak their pieces," and sing carols around a decorated Christmas tree is still a favorite tradition today as Lincoln school pupils present their annual Christmas programs for the members of the P. T. A.

At 10:30 o'clock, Wednesday morning, the WHITTIER P. T. A. members will meet at the school to hear a musical program by the school band, directed by Lyle Welch, and the ninth and eighth grade girls' choruses.

There will be no December meeting for the P. T. A.

The annual Christmas party of the BANCROFT P. T. A. will be held on Tuesday afternoon. The members will meet at 2 o'clock in the kindergarten room of the school.

A display of the pupils' work and bright Christmas decorations were featured Friday at the annual open house program of SHERIDAN school. Held from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock, the program was followed by refreshments served by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Trott, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hungate, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Noel, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wolfe and Mr. and Mrs. George Springborg.

In charge of the hall decorations were Mr. and Mrs. Mildard Schewe, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Delmore Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Pinkerton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwabauer and Mrs. Margaret Cox.

Over five hundred parents and pupils attended the Christmas program of SARATOGA school held last Friday evening. Following the showing of a film, "Christmas Rhapsody," a quartet including David Platt, C. E. Purdy, Powell and Jake Lebsack sang several numbers accompanied by Mrs. Elden Hitz, after which, Julius Humann, principal of Northeast high school, told the story, "The Littlest Angel." Mr. Humann also led the group in carol singing.

The classrooms were open for inspection by the parents, and refreshments were served at the close of the evening by the home room mothers.

Sixth grade pupils at CATHEDRAL school presented Dickens' "Christmas Carol," at the annual program last Friday afternoon. Other pupils participated in the program by presenting readings and singing carols.

Mrs. G. L. Ryan presided at the affair, and treats were given to the children by Mrs. Raymond Mobley, Mrs. Don Trumble and Mrs. Alice Shasteen.

University of Nebraska teachers college students as well as parents were guests at the annual program of BANCROFT school last Friday when the pupils entertained. Slide pictures designed by Francis Rico, Bobby Ring, and other pupils, were accompanied by songs and choral recitations given by the "little" choir of first, second and third grade pupils, and by the "big" choir of fourth, fifth and sixth graders.

Santa Claus was also a featured attraction with gifts for all the pupils. An open house in the classrooms was held following the program.

The HUNTINGTON P. T. A. attended the annual Christmas Carol Festival at the school last Friday when the pupils entertained with skits, plays, Christmas songs and carols. All decorations were made by the children, and each grade entertained the mothers at a social hour.

A capacity audience attended the yule program of NORWOOD PARK school last Friday evening, which was followed by open house in the classrooms.

Included in the program were carols by fifth and sixth graders; the Christmas story, in which the entire school partipulated; a play, "Christmas Eve," by first and second grade pupils; "The Night Before Christmas," third and fourth graders; Santa Claus Lane, the kindergarten rhythm band; and carols by all the pupils.

Refreshments and candy canes were given to the children and the hostess committee included Mrs. Raleigh Owen, Mrs. Clara Peterson, Mrs. Edna Reed and Mrs. John Creever.

The RANDOLPH P. T. A. mothersingers were guests last Thursday at a dessert luncheon held at the home of the director, Mrs. Edna Neely. A gift exchange was featured and a program was given by Mrs. David Sell and Mrs. William Abers.

$15,365 Grant Made To N. U. Study Of Polio

Disease After-Effect Reduction Is Sought

A $15,365 grant has been given research aimed at reducing the crippling after-effects of polio being conducted at the University of Nebraska college of medicine in Omaha.

That amount of money has been given to the college by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Dean Harold C. Luth said this is the third grant supporting the research from the national foundation. The college received $11,000 in 1947, and $12,000 in 1948.

Records Sound.

Dr. A. R. McIntyre, head of the physiology and pharmacology department directing the work, said research thus far has resulted in developing an instrument which makes it possible to study the contraction of a single muscle fiber. The machine records both the sound and the visual changes in degenerative muscle.

The research also is concerned with shedding new light on the chemical changes in muscles as the result of atrophy from polio or other causes.

"Once the nature of these changes, both biologic and chem-

Chicago's Needy Animals To Get Gifts From Santa Claus

CHICAGO — (INS) — Santa Claus is coming to animal town in Chicago this year.

The jolly old gent will bestow most of his gifts on the city's needy horses—but Tabby and Fido and even some of their more exotic cousins won't be forgotten.

Santa isn't going to visit the animal aristocracy, race horses and thoroughbred saddle nags or pampered house pets.

He's going to visit the sway-backed hay burner that pulls the peddler's wagon or the junk cart, the homeless dog and the stray cat.

It will be a real "animal Christmas," a term coined by the originator of the idea, Dr. Wesley A. Young, managing director of the Chicago Anti-Cruelty society.

Dr. Young was worried about the plight of the city's homeless animals and, back in 1936, decided he'd do something about it. Then began the custom carried on by the society to this day—the custom of searching out needy nags and distributing special packages of feed, blankets, and even shoes at Yuletide.

Dobbin won't exactly get a turkey dinner, but he will get a tasty mixture of chopped apples and carrots, barley and oats—a concoction no self-respecting horse would cry "neigh" to.

ical, are determined," Dr. McIntyre said, "the study will then turn to ways of controlling or preventing the changes. Although the exact means of control will depend on the nature of the changes, it is probable that agents such as vitamins, drugs and hormones may be employed."

Dr. McIntyre is being assisted by Drs. A. L. Bennett, A. L. Dunn and Frederick Humoller, and by Miss Barbara Griswold, a research fellow.

Bodies Of 3 Fliers Found

... In California Woods

NEVADA CITY, Calif.—(INS)—Mangled bodies of three air force officers, killed Saturday in the crash of a twin-engine training plane, were brought out from rugged Greenhorn mining area east of Nevada City late yesterday.

Hamilton air force base officials told the Nevada county sheriff's office the plane had taken off Saturday on a four-hour training flight from Hamilton field. The dead were identified as:

Lieut. John E. Rabb, 27, of El Cerrito, Cal.; second Lieutenant Richard Armstrong, 27, of Berkeley, Cal.; and Lieutenant Thomas Valentino of San Jose, Cal.

Arthur Anderson who found the plane said the twin-engine bomber crashed near a logging road and cut a swath through small timber and undergrowth for a distance of 500 yards.

He said the plane was almost "completely disintegrated." All three of the bodies had been thrown clear of the plane. Officers said the wreckage did not burn.

Boy, 9, Injured In Two-Car Collision

Larry Watson, 9, 235 B street, was treated at St. Elizabeth hospital and released Sunday morning following his injury in a two-car collision at Thirty-first and D streets.

The boy was riding with his uncle, Reinhold Rutt, 40, 1036 South Eleventh, when the car collided with one driven by Byron E. Dunbar, 29, 3267 D.

Police said Rutt was driving south on Thirty-first and Dunbar was going west on D. The crash overturned Dunbar's car.

Dunbar was issued a ticket for careless driving and Rutt was given a ticket for having a non-transparent object in the left door in place of a window.

Optometry Degree—Burton E. Howard, former Lincoln resident, was granted a doctor of optometry degree by the Southern College of Optometry at Memphis, Tenn., Friday. Dr. Howard was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1933 and had attended the University of Nebraska.
